Game	Equipment Needed
Treasure Hunt	Paper and pen

Face Painting	Face paint and brushes
Fishing Game	Pool and fishing rods
Henna Art	Henna paint

Dear Maria,

I would like to be in charge of the face painting with you. We can be in charge of painting the faces of the people who come to our booths. We will need face paints and brushes in order to do a good job. We are both good at painting so I'm sure we will be able to do a good job. We can set up the stall indoors, maybe in the school hall so it's not so hot. We don't want all the face paint to melt. You have done face painting before so you're the perfect person for it. What do you think?

The pupils of SK Setia Budi decided to raise money to help war victims in Syria. They put up posters of a car wash on the notice boards all around their school. Then they spoke to their teachers and the school staff to ask them to have their cars washed.

After school one day, the pupils gathered at the car park and started their car wash project. One of the pupils was in charge of collecting money. She put all the money into a box.

After a few hours, the children were tired but happy. They counted the money carefully and put it in an envelope. Then they wrote 'Mercy Malaysia' on the envelope and passed it to their principal. He would help them to pass it to Mercy Malaysia.

Once upon a time, there were two young men, Banu and Silam. They were both very strong. They could ride a horse and were skilled at shooting arrows.

One day, Banu and Silam read a notice from the palace. The king was looking for a new bodyguard. They were both interested in the job. The next day, the two young men went to the palace. They bowed before the king and told him they wanted to protect him. The king looked at them. He liked what he saw but he only needed one bodyguard. He decided to give them a test.

The king brought Banu and Silam to a room. It was full of shiny suits of armour and simple cloth tunics. He asked the two young men to choose a uniform that they thought was suitable for a bodyguard. He left and waited for them.

Banu chose a shiny suit of armour and put it on. Silam chose a simple cloth tunic and put it on. Then they went before the king. The king looked at them and smiled. He chose Silam as his bodyguard because he preferred a humble man to one who was proud. Silam worked happily to protect the king.

It was the monsoon season. The sky was full of dark rain clouds. It had been raining continuously for several days and I was worried. My family and I live in a single-storey house near the river. We were afraid that the river would overflow its banks and our house would be flooded.

The next day, flood water started to flow into our house. I was getting frightened. I quickly helped my parents to move the small pieces of furniture to the top of the tall cupboard. Then, we packed a few of our personal belongings as quickly as we could. There was no time to lose because the flood water was already ankle high.

The flood water swirled rapidly higher and reached my waist. I panicked but my parents held my hands and told me we would soon be safe. We spotted a rescue boat coming. We waded quickly out of the house and climbed into the boat. I felt better because I knew I was not going to drown.

The boat took us to a relief centre. It was crowded with other flood victims but we were glad to have a place to stay. My family managed to get a mat. We placed whatever belongings we had on it. It was our home for the next three days.

On the fourth day, the rain stopped. I was relieved. I prayed that the flood water would subside soon. That afternoon, we were told that we could return home. We were glad that the ordeal was over. We could return home once again but there was still a lot of work to be done.

Mr Shan was going to the airport in a taxi. He had to attend a meeting in Kota Kinabalu. He had with him his briefcase and a small bag. When he got to the airport, Mr Shan looked worriedly at his watch. He did not want to be late. He paid the driver and quickly got out to walk towards the airport. When he got near the counter to check in, Mr Shan reached into his pants pocket for his phone. To his shock, it wasn't there! He looked into his bags but couldn't find it anywhere. Suddenly, he heard someone shouting, "Hello! Hello!" He looked up and saw the taxi driver running towards him waving his phone in his hands. Mr Shan was very grateful to the honest and kind taxi driver. He wanted to reward the taxi driver but the taxi driver refused. Mr Shan respected the taxi driver even more after that.

Every evening, Sukma took out his new skateboard. He practised in the driveway of his house. He learned to balance himself on the skateboard. Sukma's father watched him as he practised. Sukma was very excited when he could move without falling off the board.

When, Sukma was better at skateboarding, his father allowed him to practise along the pavement. Sukma wanted to learn how to do tricks on the skateboard so his father sent him to learn under a coach. The coach taught him to do tricks, such as jumping and flipping.

One day, Sukma's father took him to a demonstration on skateboarding. They saw skilled skateboarders doing many tricks. Sukma was thrilled. He wished he could do those tricks too. Before they left, they saw a notice on a competition. It was a skateboard challenge. Sukma decided to take part. He asked his father for permission and his father agreed to let him join.

Sukma practised very hard whenever he got the chance. He learned many new tricks and he was confident of winning the challenge. The day of the competition arrived. Sukma performed very well and won a prize. He was proud of himself.

	Equipment needed
Bungee jumping	Thick elastic cord
Scuba diving	Diving suit and breathing equipment
Skateboarding	Skateboard, helmet, knee pads
Rock climbing	Helmet, harness

I would like to take up skateboarding with you if you will join me. We exercise regularly and are quite fit so I think we should be able to learn this sport fairly quickly. We will need to buy a skateboard as well as a helmet and knee pads for protection. If we take up this sport, we will learn how to perform tricks. Better still, we will be able to carry out this sport every day in the open court in front of our house or even on the roads when there are no cars. This is something that we will be able to do quite easily without needing other equipment or having to go somewhere special. I hope you will join me.

One day, while Julia and Joan were at the playground they found a purse near the swing. They opened it and were shocked to see a lot of money in it. They looked around and just then they saw a lady looking for something. They went up to her and asked her what she was looking for. She told them that she had lost her purse and gave a description of it. Her description matched the purse the girls had found. They quickly returned the purse to her. She thanked them and wanted to reward them. The girls politely refused to accept her reward saying that they were happy to have helped.

Question 2

The bus was crowded but luckily John managed to get a seat. As he sat down, John noticed two men behaving suspiciously. They pushed their way to the centre of the bus where there were many passengers standing. They stood very close to an elderly man. Just then, he noticed one man talking to the old man while the other was putting his hand into the old man's pocket. He cleverly pulled out the old man's wallet. John got up quickly and shouted. Another passenger caught the man red-handed. Other passengers came to help and caught hold of the men. The old man thanked John for his quick thinking. The bus driver stopped the bus and called the police. When the police arrived, they took the pickpockets to the police station.
